National Guard Enforcing Law In Phenix City

Police, Civilians Give Up Guns As Martial Law Is Declared

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (AP) — Residents of a city long hardened to violence stood by stunned today as stern-faced National Guardsmen enforced law under an unprecedented order is used by Gov. Gordon Persons.

The armed civilian-soldiers, hurried into the city by truckloads, relieved Phenix City law enforcement officials of their weapons as well as their duties yesterday when qualified martial law was proclaimed.

The governor's action gave this once gaudy, bawdy river town of about 17,000 population the distinction of being the first municipality in Alabama history to have its entire law enforcement duties taken over by the military.

Near Ft. Benning
The stormy community of shady night clubs and gambling dens across the Chattahoochee River from Columbus, Ga., and sprawling Ft. Benning erupted five weeks ago when incoming Atty. Gen. A. L. Patterson was slain in an alley below his law office.

Gov. Persons said he was invoking martial law to "surpass the state of lawlessness, intimidation, tumult and fear which reign" in Russell County. He added that Phenix City officers have either been "unable or unwilling" to control tangled affairs here.

City and county law officers as well as private citizens were ordered to turn in all firearms and other weapons to the military command headed by Adj. Gen. Walter J. Hanna.

Townpeople Gather
Crowds of townspeople ringed the courthouse and police station during Thursday afternoon's steady drizzle as word spread around that the old order was changing.

But as night came the once

Indochinese Mourn Splitting Of Viet Nam

SAIGON, Indochina (AP) — The Vietnamese flag drooped at half-staff today on Saigon's government buildings. The gesture mourned the northern half of the country—lost to the Communists in eight years of fighting and 2½ months of arguing at the Geneva conference.

Viet Nam Premier Ngo Dinh Diem ordered the official flags halfway down, backing up his denunciation yesterday of the partition ordered by the Geneva conference.

Sources close to the militantly Nationalist Premier said he would not resign his post despite his anger at the armistice terms which his representatives at Geneva said were concluded without their consent.

Diem, these sources said, considers it his duty to lead Viet Nam in the difficult days ahead. Under the cease-fire terms, both North and South Viet Nam are slated for internationally supervised elections in two years to reunite them.

So far there is little expectation that the forces opposed to Communist leader Ho Chi Minh will win. The Viet Nam government's immediate problem was to arrange for evacuation southward of thousands of anti-Reds in the North desirous of escaping from the incoming Vietminh.

TESTIFIES AT INQUEST—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, wearing orthopedic brace, and Dr. and Mrs. Stephen Sheppard walk toward a Bay Village school where a public inquest into the murder of Marilyn Sheppard is being held. The slain woman's husband collapsed as he appeared as a witness under oath for the first time.

Sheppard Says He, Girl Stayed At California Home For Week

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Samuel Sheppard returns to the witness stand today at a coroner's inquest into the killing of his wife.

Outwardly calm and speaking carefully, the 30-year-old Bay Village osteopath spent an hour and 55 minutes on the stand as the inquest began yesterday.

He told a story similar to one he gave authorities after his 31-year-old wife, Marilyn, was beaten to death July 4.

After dinner he fell asleep downstairs, he said, and later heard "her say my name loudly, screaming my name. It wasn't actually a scream. I really can't explain it."

Struck From Behind
He said he ran upstairs, grappled with "a white form of an individual," heard his wife moaning loudly and felt that he was struck down from behind.

The doctor—wearing a brace supporting his neck, which he said was injured in the scuffle—recounted seeing a "figure in the front door," or on the porch, or possibly beyond "... and pursuing 'this form as best I could.'"

He said he tried to tackle the fleeing figure and "felt twisted or choked and that's all I remember at that time."

Earlier he told of spending a week last March at Los Angeles as the guest of Dr. Arthur Miller while taking a post-graduate osteopathic course.

Girl Was Guest
Mrs. Susan Hayes, 23-year-old Downey, Calif., medical technician, for whom he later bought a watch, was a house guest there at the same time, he said. The watch was a replacement, he said, for one she lost while they attended a wedding at San Diego.

His wife—who was four months pregnant at the time of her death—was with friends at a ranch near Monterey, Calif., while he was in Los Angeles, he told the coroner.

Questioned by Dr. Gerber, the osteopath denied there had been difficulties over his being at the Miller home.

Others who testified yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. Don J. Ahern, who had dinner with the Sheppards the night of the murder. Mrs. Ahern said Mrs. Sheppard had told her about the watch and that she had asked Mrs. Sheppard "did it upset you, is there anything to it."

She quoted Mrs. Sheppard as saying, "no, I don't think there is."

Voting Very Light On Wheat Quotas

LISBON — A much lighter vote than anticipated in the national referendum on wheat marketing quotas was reported here this morning by George H. Pollock, chairman of the agricultural stabilization and conservation Committee.

By 11 a.m. only nine farmers had voted here.

George Rogers, office manager, said earlier that he expected a total of 150 to 200 wheat growers to cast ballots.

A report from the East Rochester polling place was unavailable. Pollock said the morning balloting was even lighter than last year at this time.

Round the Clock Debate On Atom Bill Continues

Farm Bill Delayed Until End of Congress Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—The politically explosive farm bill, pushed back on the Senate docket again under disputed circumstances, may be the final major business for the adjournment-bound Congress.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) said today he has no intention of trying to get Senate action on the farm measure until "next midweek, probably Wednesday," Aiken, chairman of the Senate Agriculture committee, added in an interview.

"All I want to make certain is that if there is no farm legislation at this session that I'm not going to take the rap for it."

Aiken smiled away a blistering statement issued last night by Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas which branded as "simply ... not true" Aiken's assertion that Democrats forced a delay in Senate action on the farm bill.

Aiken called reporters to his office early yesterday and told them the Democratic leadership had served notice on him not to bring up the farm bill until next Tuesday or later.

Aiken said this might prevent any farm legislation because of plan to end the session next Saturday. Whether Congress will meet that target for adjournment is questionable.

Johnson Fires Back
Late in the day, Johnson fired back with a statement that Aiken had engaged in "distortions and inaccuracies." Referring to the all-night session the night before, Johnson said it was "the kind of misunderstanding that can arise when senators are too tired and weary to think clearly."

If prospects for a farm bill are "dimming," as Aiken said, Johnson said this resulted from "the artificially imposed deadline of July 31st for congressional adjournment ... imposed by the Republican leadership itself."

Johnson added that the "Democrats are ready to consider farm legislation at any reasonable time."

Newsweek was not allowed to talk with the injured, many of whom sustained severe cuts and bruises. Members of the PBV crew were not permitted to describe the rescue.

Six of the 12 passengers were Americans—including five members of one family.

Singapore headquarters of Cathay Pacific Airlines, operators of the four-engine Skymaster, said "all survivors" had been rescued and the search had been called off.

Airline Manager Geoffrey Skelton said he could not say whether additional persons had been saved or whether no more could be found.

Eyewitnesses aboard two commercial planes which saw the Skymaster crash land after one engine caught fire said scores of small boats and sampans put out quickly from Hainan and all aboard the plane probably were rescued unless some were trapped inside.

Went Down In Minute
The plane went down within one minute, said British newsman Russell Spurr, who was aboard an Air Vietnam plane which circled the scene for 45 minutes.

Spurr said he saw a small boat pick up three persons from a life raft. The three presumably are in Communist hands.

Cathay Pacific identified Americans aboard the Skymaster as Capt. and Mrs. L. L. Parish and their three children of Los Angeles, and P.S. Thacker, address unavailable.

For a time it was feared that rescue operations would be complicated by the proximity of Communist territory. There was no indication from the U. S. PBV that it had encountered trouble in landing and taking off.

Smith Says Truce Was Best Possible

WASHINGTON (AP)—Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith, who represented the United States at the Geneva Conference, said today the Indochina peace settlement was "the best which we could have possibly obtained under the circumstances."

Smith made the statement at the airport after flying back to report to President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles on the Geneva meeting, as well as the talks he had in London last night with Prime Minister Churchill.

The United States and Britain are making plans, in consultation with other friendly governments for an international conference in about a month to draft a Southeast Asia defense pact.

Court Martial Hears GI Tell Of Fainting At Forced Attention

FT. DIX, N.J. (AP)—The defense went ahead today in its effort to clear 1st Lt. Robert S. Morgan of a charge that he permitted his company of Army trainees to be held at attention for an hour in willing heat.

Nine prosecution witnesses took the stand yesterday at the opening of Morgan's court-martial trial on charges of "dereliction of duty."

One of them was Pvt. William Brooks, 20, of Hempstead, N.Y., who told the eight-member court-martial board he fainted three times during the forced attention period June 21.

Morgan, 28, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., is accused of having allowed Company "L," 272nd Infantry Regiment, to be forced to stand at attention in 92-degree heat as punishment for a breach of discipline. Several men were said to have fainted.

As the court-martial got under way, Morgan pleaded innocent to the charge. His administrative assistant, 1st Sgt. Richard J. Witbeck, 24, of Wellington, Ohio, will be tried separately on a charge of mistreating the men in the incident.

Brooks testified that he was revived by splashes of cold water each time after he lost consciousness. He said that when he fainted the third time, he finally was carried to his barracks.

When the prosecution concluded its case, the defense took over by reading a deposition from a former member of the company who has since been discharged.

The deposition, from ex-Pvt. Bayard Stockton of Colorado Springs, Colo., said he did not notice any men fainting during the hour-long formation, but that he did recall seeing one man lying on the ground.

Stockton declared that the men were discouraged over the fact they received no pay after four weeks of training, but that they

Tired Senators Begin 3rd Day Of Steady Talk

House May Also Join Fight On Provisions For Power Plants

WASHINGTON (AP) — Weary, drawn-faced senators talked toward their third day of round-the-clock debate on the Eisenhower administration's atomic energy bill early today after what looked like a whistling-in-the-dark move by GOP leaders to shut off argument.

The marathon session which began at 10 a.m. Wednesday morning broke off briefly during the wee hours. But 25 minutes later the orators were at it again, with no end yet in sight.

On the other side of the Capitol, House leaders gave up waiting on the Senate and scheduled a session of their own today on the omnibus measure which would re-empower the basic 1946 atomic energy law. Debate in that body could be as bitter as the Senate's, but not as drawn out, for House debate-limiting rules are strict.

Would Limit Speaking
The Senate effort to curb discussion came shortly after midnight when Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, filed a petition to invoke cloture. This would limit speaking time, though not stop debate altogether. The petition was signed by 38 senators, all Republicans.

No test can come on it before Sunday morning, and Knowland said he didn't expect one before Monday.

Knowland conceded the move was a last resort. Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) accused the Californian of coming armed with "atomic political bombs" and said "he's going to drop one too many." Humphrey, an opponent of many features of the bill, said progress was being made, yet "now we have the final weapon used against us."

Knowland has accused "Liberal Democrats" of conducting a filibuster against the measure and of tactics of "pure obstructionism" against the uncompleted portions of President Eisenhower's legislative program. Most opponents of the bill have disputed that, saying the debate has been confined largely to issues.

Generally, the bill would allow the United States to share with its Allies some limited information on

Apple Crop Yield Envisioned As Good

The Ohio apple crop is expected to be over a half-million bushels larger than last year, Howard Wells of Wilkesville, president of the Ohio Apple Institute, told a group of 200 Columbiana and Mahoning Fruit growers Thursday night.

Speaking at the Henry Sieke farm near Lisbon, Wells said experts believe a 3-million bushel crop will be harvested compared to a 2-million, 400-thousand bushel harvest in 1953.

"Because more people are out of work," E. F. Sanor, East Rochester orchardist said, "the labor supply for picking should be improved over recent years." He advised growers to know by Aug. 15 where their labor will be coming from since pickers may have located elsewhere.

Sieke's 90-acre apple, peach and plum orchard was toured followed by a talk on stone fruits by Robert Hill of the Wooster Experiment Station.

Bill Schuller of Salem demonstrated a sprayer and apple cratter. Dan Simmons of near New Waterford, president of the Columbiana County Horticultural society, was in charge.

Grim Reminders Of War Remain

Koreans Buckle Down To Work
Selves Out Of War's Poverty

Editors' Note—President Syngman Rhee of Korea is arriving in Washington Monday to talk over his problems with President Eisenhower. In two articles earlier this week, The Associated Press has depicted the American aid program for Korea and the criticism it has run into. In this concluding article, an AP correspondent at Seoul depicts the Korea of today.

By MURRAY FROMSON
SEOUL (AP)—The grim reminders of war are still here—bomb gutted streets, ruined buildings and the maimed and orphaned, but there's a new atmosphere in Seoul. And all over South Korea.

Reconstruction may not be going as fast as the government wants it to, but a government's discontent is not always shown by its people. With some assurance that they won't have to pack up and flee south tomorrow, the Koreans have buckled down to rebuild their homes and shops.

In contrast to last July 27, when the fighting stopped, the man in the street appears happier, better fed and better clothed today. Certainly, he's better off than any time since the Communists pushed across the 38th Parallel four years ago.

There are almost no big factories to indicate rapid recovery, though a number are in the works. But there are rows upon rows of small stands from which Korean merchants peddle their wares to the city shopper.

And there are plenty of shoppers. Seoul is bulging with people. Ever since the 8th Army relaxed its restriction on the return of civilians to Seoul, the people have been streaming back by the thousands.

Police estimate Seoul's population now to be about 1,600,000—some 400 thousand more than its prewar population—and going up everyday.

Men and women have taken to wearing Western clothes. The attraction for Western clothes by the women caused one U. S. soldier to remark that a U. S. mail order catalog is probably Korea's all-time best seller.

Public transportation has increased. Old streetcars contributed

DISTRICT REPUBLICAN LEADERS MEET—Plans for a GOP victory next November, including the election of Atty. Walter J. Hunston of Salem to congress, were discussed when 18th district Republicans met Tuesday night in Steubenville. Shown above (l. to r.) at the meeting are, first row, Mrs. J. W. Astor, Salem, GOP State Central and Executive Committee 18th District member; Walter Hunston, GOP nominee for Congress; Ray C. Bliss, Akron, GOP State Chairman; Bernard Lamb, Washington, director Republican Congressional National Campaign Committee; Russ C. Hedleston, East Liverpool, state committee member.

Standing—E. Weaver Casper, Malvern, member Carroll County GOP committee; Cecil James, Magnolia, vice-chairman, Carroll County committee; Robert J. Hocker, Steubenville, Jefferson County central committee chairman; Harry J. Mark, Steubenville, Jefferson county executive committee chairman; Mrs. Lorena Clarke, Toronto, Jefferson County chairwoman; Mrs. Jessie Negus, Colerain, Belmont County chairwoman; Dale Fulton, Martins Ferry, Belmont County chairman.

by St. Louis and Atlanta are always taxed to capacity.

The Seoul curfew horn still sounds at 10 p.m., but a few Korean men and women manage to go dancing and dining beforehand at one of several night clubs which have opened in the last year.

Industrially, Korean factories are starting to produce, although their output is negligible. Lack of power has been a big hindrance, but that situation is gradually being remedied. The Korean farmer is having one of the best crops in many years.

American economists here are learning, like their military predecessors, that there were few opportunities for the Koreans to develop leadership under the 40-year Japanese rule. With Foreign Operations Administration funds, the republic is hiring highly skilled foreign technicians and firms to handle the reconstruction job.

It will be a job to find enough technically-skilled Koreans to run the country's future industry.

There is also the problem of the ROK (Republic of Korea) Army. When President Syngman Rhee learned of plans to gradually withdraw U. S. troops from Korea, he sought American support for a buildup of his own army. The U. S. contribution toward maintenance of the present 20-division force is estimated at about 300 million dollars annually. Rhee has asked for nearly 20 additional divisions.

But Gen. James A. Van Fleet said recently he did not think the ROKs could maintain more than their present 20 divisions in combat conditions. The manpower is available, however.

The key question is this: Is South Korea destined to be a permanent economic ward of the United States? There is no ready answer today, but C. Tyler Wood, head of the Foreign Operations Administration here, says a steady growth in the value of Korea's gross national production will end the need for extensive aid.

Memorials To War Heroes
Dedicated

CAMP PERRY, Ohio (AP)—Four target ranges and four camp buildings were dedicated today as permanent memorials to the eight members of Ohio's 37th Infantry Division who won the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche, Maj. Gen. Robert Beightler, World War II commander of the division, and a host of other dignitaries came here for the ceremonies.

Cleto Rodriguez, the only living member of the eight, travelled from his home in San Antonio, Tex. to attend the dedication.

Rodriguez and a companion killed more than 82 Japanese during an attack on the Pao railroad station in the battle for Manila in 1945. Rodriguez was a technical sergeant at the time.

The other Medal of Honor winners were Pfc. Frank J. Petrarca of Cleveland, Pvt. Roger W. Young of Tiffin, Lt. Robert M. Viale of Ukiah, Calif., Pfc. Anthony L. Krotiak of Chicago, Pfc. John N. Reese, Jr. of Pryor, Okla., Pfc. Joseph J. Cicchetti of Magnolia, Ohio, and 2nd Lt. Albert E. Baesel of Berea.

All of the awards were earned in World War II except for that of Lt. Baesel, who won the honor in World War I.

The dedication ceremonies took place as the 37th Division prepared to conclude on Sunday its first summer field training program since the unit returned from active duty two years ago.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

LONDON — There are American military men who recall that one day in 1944 they were quietly summoned by their British colleagues and taken down beneath London to a subterranean city, poured in concrete, equipped with scientific labs, troop quarters, gas analysis systems, beds, blankets, six months of constantly refreshed provisions and air transformer machinery to renew the atmosphere every 24 hours.

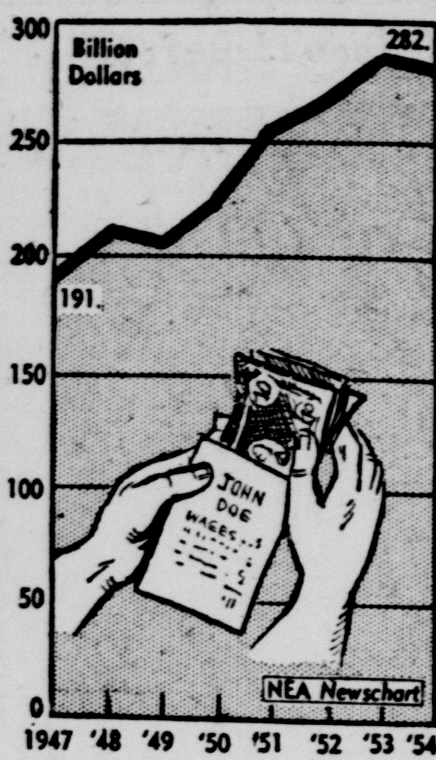

The American officers first went down a spiral staircase. Then into an elevator for 300 feet more to a gas and bomb proof underground city in which the prime minister could operate; and armed forces commanders could control aircraft across the islands and keep in constant radio communications with the Dominions — and the rest of the world all-d to Great Britain.

There are men in England who insist that the Communists knew of its existence from the very first moment the first bit of electrical equipment and radio communications were installed. Intelligence sources here say that there is nothing which involves any electrical installation or construction of which the Communists don't know — super secret or not — within a few hours.

THERE IS, in fact, one report, written this past March 23 for an important agency, which says that the Communists' control of England's electrical workers could "neutralize Britain in a week."

That's a frightening, sweeping statement! But it was made by a most authentic observer to a most respected institution — which in turn sent it on to U.S. Intelligence, it is logical to assume.

The exact words were: "In an ultimate phase an electricians' strike could shut down broadcasting and telegraphy, close all power stations and neutralize Britain in a week."

BIG FILE — Above Newschart traces personal income in the U.S. from 1947 to the present. In 1947 it was $191 billion, jumped to $209.5 billion in 1948, but dropped to $205.9 billion in 1949. Since then it rose to an all-time high of 284.5 in 1953. During the first third of 1954 personal income leveled to $282 billion. Data from U.S. Department of Commerce.

Further in this report there is the statement:

"If Gen. Gruenther thinks he will have trouble only with French and Italian communications, he might glance at ours (Britain's). Every glance west of the channel could be split for at least the first vital 12 hours of the emergency and much of it may actually be blown up."

The reference was to the Communist workers in the British electrical field. Both the British Trades Union Congress — which has a terrific anti-Communist section under an energetic assistant general secretary, Victor Feather — and the British security forces are working hard to keep these Communist technicians under control and under constant surveillance.

ABOUT 350 DANGEROUS Communists are shadowed a good deal of the time, and their whereabouts and activities are known to the security forces virtually all the time.

But no more than we have succeeded in driving a strong rank and file away from Sovieteers controlling parts of our electronic industry and the mining and smelting of vital war metals and uranium — no more than we, have the British been able to crack the Comintern hold on such workers.

The Communist controlled Electrical Trades Union here, working closely with a union called the Association of Scientific Workers, has or had its hard core activists at or in on the secret construction of:

Three atomic energy plants, including the ultra-sensitive one at Aldermaston which is vital to joint British-American defense plans. Four airfields, including London airport and Royal Air Force stations. An armored tank factory. Three vital refineries. Two factories and one steel plant in classified work.

THE HAWKER aircraft factory, construction of which, they shut down in Sept. 1953 with a guerrilla strike just when Britain had broken the world's air-speed record with its Hawker-Hunter jet.

As recently as January 1954, this union pulled what were, in effect, political strikes during the construction of several war-strategic sites, including a huge plutonium plant.

They added a flash stoppage at the BC television installation. These two series of strikes are estimated to have cost Britain 1-050,000 working days on strategic plants — and some desperately needed 3 billion dollars.

Yet this British Communist party has only 35,000 members. Just 10,000 more than we have. But they reach into atomic plants, our own atomic bases, into arsenals, into the scientific labs, into the labs at the University of Birmingham, especially. They can do more damage to this beautiful island than the Blitz — or anything short of an invasion, I'm told.

I just thought you'd like to know so you'll have these facts handy next time some one tells you not to get excited about our own 25,000 revolutionists.

Both Sides Of Iron Curtain Join Forces

World Scientists Open Battle Against Cancer

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — Scientists from 54 nations on both sides of the Iron Curtain launched a new joint assault today against cancer, which kills someone in the world every 10 seconds.

The nations include Russia, the United States, Britain, Korea, Poland, Brazil, Chile, Greece, Hungary — in fact almost any country you can name.

Nearly 1,000 physicians, chemists, physicists, biologists and other scientists are conferring here and exchanging their latest knowledge to mobilize better answers to the death and suffering from cancer.

Their meeting ground is the Sixth International Cancer Congress, which opened today in this booming Brazilian metropolis. The congress last met in Paris in 1950.

In the next week the delegates will listen to some 50 reports dealing with treatment, detection, new scientific research and public education concerning cancer.

They also will meet informally, seeking from or telling to other men and women scientists the findings which might supply keys to the answers they and the people of their nations want.

The cancer congress was formally opened this morning by Dr. Antonio Prudente, the congress president and head of the Brazilian Cancer Institute.

About three million persons over the world fall victim to cancer annually, he said in his opening address.

Dr. Prudente said new promise from research in various fields offer great hope, and each new fact learned is potentially useful in solving the riddle.

"I feel sure," he said, "this congress which brings together men of all races, religions and political creeds, shall fight for the same ideal" — the ultimate triumph over cancer.

Prior to the opening session, Dr. George T. Pack, of New York's Memorial Hospital, told yesterday of a bold new operation to cure cancer of the liver. In some cases he said, the whole right lobe of the liver — 75 to 80 per cent of the organ — had been removed by new surgical techniques. After such operations, Dr. Pack said, the left lobe regenerates and expands until the liver becomes nearly its original size.

Six of the operations have been performed in the past two years, he said. The first patient to undergo the new surgery is living and well today.

FOUND DEAD. Shot twice, the partly disrobed body of 18-year-old Doris Bogart (above) was found in an automobile, abandoned in a lonely lovers' lane near Joliet, Ill. Police sought a former mental patient on a charge of murder in the girl's death.

Texas City Increases Horses' Speed Limit

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — The city commission here has decided old dobbin can horse around as much as he wants to. Not without considerable horse-play, the commission yesterday voted repeal of a 45-year-old ordinance—No. 13—which regulated horse-drawn vehicles with an 8 m.p.h. speed limit. A "compromise" move by Commissioner S. S. Forrest to raise the speed limit to 10 miles per hour was defeated.

No More Shooting

The young seem to be more impressed than the old with the claim that the world is at peace because the old war in Indochina has been halted. The young are more likely than the old to believe that peace is the absence of shooting.

In 1931, an absence of shooting was converted into an existence of shooting when the Japanese began to shoot their way into Manchuria. The success of their aggression inspired Mussolini to give the order for Italy to shoot its way into Ethiopia in 1934.

When the League of Nations had demonstrated to the satisfaction of all would-be aggressors everywhere that it could do nothing way into all the territories he coveted. Until there was no immediate need for shooting.

In 1939, World War II began, and although shooting did not begin in earnest until 1940. After the Japanese attack on the United States on Dec. 7, 1941, the shooting became world wide. It is interesting to note, apocryphal of peace in Indochina in 1954, that Japan first invaded it on Sept. 22, 1940, and since then there has been continuous shooting. Perhaps for the Indochinese, an absence of shooting will seem like peace.

But there is no peace. There can be none without good will. The end of worldwide shooting in 1945 proved to be the signal for the release of more rancor and mischief than ever were loosed against mankind before.

Simultaneously, mankind had learned about an explosion that could be produced by atom-splitting, a vast new dimension of violence, that was to become even vaster with development of explosions that dwarfed the original cataclysms at Hiroshima and Nagasaki. During the intervals when no one was being blown to bits after 1945, there were no illusions about peace; there wasn't any.

There is no peace now. There is only another tenous truce that can be broken whenever further aggression seems feasible to an aggressor. Perhaps this is all there ever was. Perhaps there can be no peace, only an occasional absence of shooting.

Experiment In Republicanism

The prospect of unusual success for the Eisenhower administration's legislative program is being well publicized — and properly so. It is part of the party function in a two-party system of government to keep the public informed about its stewardship.

But there is a reason for this unusual success that does not lend itself to publicizing. It concerns something the Eisenhower administration has not been doing, something not easy to describe, nor easy to understand.

Yet, much of the acceptance of his administration's legislative ideas has been the result of an experiment in republicanism which President Eisenhower began when he entered the White House in 1953. He made it known he believed in the three-way balance of federal power, and would not try to dictate to Congress.

This pledge, coming after the Truman administration, which had tried to dictate to Congress, and the Roosevelt administration, which had tried to dictate both to Congress and the Supreme Court, was mildly revolutionary in its implications. There have been times when the President seemed to be at the mercy of people who held the view that failure to use his power in a personal way was a sign of weakness.

In a republic, the ultimate source of all governing power is the people, themselves. They are sovereign. It never dawned on either Franklin Roosevelt or Harry Truman that the people's sovereign power was made manifest in the congressional coalition that blocked their legislative recommendations. It seems to have dawned on Dwight Eisenhower.

He has picked no fights with Congress, or with its members. He has made no peremptory demands, delivered no insults, refrained from off-the-cuff remarks, indulged in no squabbling and has done no overt politicking to take advantage of political opponents. He has achieved remarkable success with a legislative program by letting legislators find out for themselves what their constituents preferred; he did not try to tell the what the folks back home were thinking.

The dignity he has restored to the White House as the symbol of the executive power has been enhanced, not diminished, by his steadfast refusal to detract by word of deed from the dignity which belongs to Congress.

At the close of the second legislative year of his administration, President Eisenhower's experiment in republicanism is turning out more successfully than its critics ever wanted to believe it would or could turn out.

Price Of Appeasement

By DAVID LAWRENCE

United States Loses Faith In France As Ally

Maybe the French government and the French people will not realize for some time to come what they have truly lost by the debacle in Indochina.

For one thing they have lost in America some of that wholehearted faith which has prompted the Congress to spend nearly a billion dollars a year to help the French hold out in Indochina. They may have lost also a reliance by this country on the will of France to fight if the Communist invader marches across Europe. In either case, it's a damaging blow to the prestige of France.

Never before has the weakness of the French as an American ally been so dramatically demonstrated, and it cannot but hasten the "agonizing reappraisal" which America will be asked to make now in order to concentrate her money and her manpower on the defense of this country.

It is an open secret that American military men have grown indomitable of maintaining large American forces in Europe which could be faced with the necessity of an emergency evacuation if some future French cabinet suddenly decided to appease the Communist aggressor, as has just been done with Indochina.

FOR SEVERAL MONTHS now the French government has dilly-dallied with the European Defense Community plan. It is well known that the principal opposition inside France to the continuance of the Laniel cabinet was not its inability to liquidate the Indochina war but its sponsorship of the EDC plan.

Now, with the Indochina truce a matter of history, the question is whether the cabinet of Mendes-France will dare to go ahead with the ratification of the EDC agreement.

The prospect is a doubtful one and, while not ejecting the EDC plan out of hand, an evasive maneuver may be begun to amend the plan. This could amount to the same thing as scuttling it.

The 100 Communists in the French parliament, plus the left-wing groups there, are bitterly opposed to EDC and with the rising tide of Moscow's prestige — manifested dramatically by her domination of the Indochina settlement — the real undercover campaign of the Soviet government now will be to try to kill EDC.

IF THIS HAPPENS, a movement here to have American forces brought back home can be expected.

This would be a tragic alternative because then the Communists would have a free hand in Europe, and West Germany would be sacrificed. There are French officials, therefore, who think that, no matter what they do about EDC, the United States will continue her economic and military aid to France.

They may be guessing right on this, though at the same time it is apparent that the drive to get a "new look" on the military side will not be slowed down.

The main criticism of what has happened in Indochina is coming from Air Force circles, where it is insisted that America is investing too much money on uncertain partners — countries where bases may be lost at any moment. This makes a case for intercontinental bombers and for a stepping up of naval air power as well, so that America's defense against atomic attack will not be dependent on uncertain allies.

America has an important air base in Morocco. The Communists are fomenting more trouble there, as they are in Tunisia. The northern borders of Africa are infested with Communist saboteurs who are bent on stirring up friction.

The present cabinet in Paris is well aware of the danger of more revolutionary disturbances in Tunisia and Morocco and is inclined to adopt a conciliatory course and to try giving the nationalist elements some important concessions.

These probably will not satisfy them, or at least the Communist mischief-makers will see that they do not end the trouble.

IT IS IRONICAL to go back now and read how ready some members of Congress were to condemn Secretary Dulles a few weeks ago as responsible for what was happening in Geneva.

It is now apparent that the French and British were pulling French planned to scuttle Indochina.

As it turns out, Dulles was wisely striving to disassociate America from the appeasement plot. He has managed to keep America's moral position free. Hence the United States is in a strong position now to question the good faith of the Communists, who have been claiming they were interested in the fulfillment of the aspirations of the people of the Indochina states for full independence.

Those people now will get the Communist kind of "independence" so well known to the enslaved populations of Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Vito Marcantonio

Vito Marcantonio, who for seven years represented the 18th New York District in Congress and was for years the heart and soul and mouthpiece for the radical American Labor party, has announced that he will attempt this year to regain the seat he lost in 1950.

He will run as an independent, he says, because the American Labor party harbors a Communist element. For some reason he never complained of this element in his party when he was in Congress.

His candidacy will put this contest squarely in the national spotlight, for he is a formidable demagogue and has a potent influence on the left-wing elements in the district.

The district, which, incidentally is where I live and vote, is composed of an extraordinary mixture of races, nationalities, and economic groups. Roughly, it runs along the east side of Manhattan from the East River at 59th Street to a spot far to the north on the Harlem River. To the west it reaches almost to Park Avenue.

WITHIN THIS great area there live more than 300,000 people. There are great numbers of Puerto Ricans, among whom the Communist infection has made marked progress.

There are many people of Italian extraction who used to be the main support of Fiorello La Guardia when he represented that district.

There is all of Yorkville, with a sturdy lot of German origin.

There are many Irish, and scatterings of other nationalities. Running along the East River there is also a section, heavily Republican, in which fine apartments and rather well-to-do people predominate. Over the entire district, the Republican vote is about 25 per cent.

The rest of the votes are divided among the Democrats, the Liberals, and the remnants of the American Labor party.

Four years ago, the record of Marcantonio became so obnoxious that a coalition was worked out by which Democrats, Republicans, and Liberals united behind James J. Donovan, a Democrat.

MARCANTONIO was beaten after a bitter fight marked in spots by violence. Two years later, Marcantonio did not run, and many rumors were in circulation about his failing health.

In 1953 the results of the mayoral election indicated that almost the entire American Labor party had moved into the Democratic party. In fact, it was quite apparent that the Communist line of action that year was to vote Democratic. On the day after the election Marcantonio resigned from the ALP and in effect pronounced it dead.

Donovan is a man of real ability. Physically he resembles the late Jimmy Walker. His acute intelligence is also reminiscent of the former mayor. His industry is decidedly greater, and his political courage is unquestioned.

HIS TROUBLE this year will be the defection of the leftists, including the Liberal party. There is a leftist Democrat running against him in the primary. Organized labor is cold toward Donovan because of his independent voting record. But both the Democratic and Republican organizations have announced their support.

Marcantonio has already started to scream "McCarthyism" at Donovan. This may gain him some support from the Communist element and, curiously, from some allegedly conservative Park Avenue people. But among vast numbers of the people in that district, the name McCarthy is still something to conjure with. Perhaps that is because they have lived near Communists and favor anyone who takes up the cudgel against them.

The 18th will be one district where no one can complain about apathy this fall.

"Thank Goodness We Didn't Lose Face"

Lost In The State Department

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Like most others of my ilk — to use an expression so often hurled at me — I frequently write about the State Department and its people. By and large, these past 38 years, I have seen much of those connected with this organization in various parts of the world.

Among them have been my best friends; others were routine dopes who pompously bespoke the importance of their positions. However, I go on using the term State Department as though it were something personalized, as though all its employees were the same. We sometimes talk of them as cookie-pushers or cast aspersions on their striped trousers.

Recently, I was caught up short while reading Robert T. Oliver's "Why War Came in Korea."

IN NO MANNER relating to the Korean War, appears this long paragraph:

"One thing people forget when they try to discover what ails the State Department is that its employees are individuals pretty much like everyone else. They range in ability from clerks able to earn $1,800 a year to administrators who can command $10,000 or more. They have their prejudices and special interests and their own quota of ignorance. Most of them are not supermen afire with zeal to reform the world (and some who are have drunk their draught of inspiration from the wrong bottles), but simple family men who want security and a living wage. Some are industrious and some are lazy. Most of them do their assigned work with a decent conscientiousness. Some work their hearts out and ruin their health to serve the needs of this tragic time, and others (like the great bulk of the rest of the citizenry) want to close up their desks when the clock strikes five and go home to their hobbies and their families."

What is true of the State Department is true of the Pentagon.

By Galbraith

the White House, and every other department of government. Some of their employees are just plain people, who are not concerned with high policy, just with doing their work sufficiently well to keep their jobs.

However, in the State Department, if a fellow wonders what he and the wife will do tonight, play Canasta or look at TV, the question must nevertheless arise whether he is sitting over documents which have to be evaluated wisely because the data contained therein may affect national policy of great importance.

I HAVE SEEN many State department officials in my days in China who wrote brilliant reports which somehow reached the morgue very swiftly. Once put in the dispatch bags to Washington, they were lost or forgotten.

I recall one consular official, a young man, who, back in 1925 or 1926, wrote the most complete report on Communist activity in China that anyone had done up to that time.

I was called in to read this document. I was then writing articles on this and kindred subjects for the "China Year Book" and was considered something of an expert until the Institute of Pacific Relations gained a monopoly on Far Eastern experts.

This report was so complete a history of Communist activities in China that it could be useful even today, because the very young people he wrote about then have now become the rulers of that country.

It would be of value to see what they were like at the beginning of their careers. The present leaders of Communist China were then already active.

THIS DOCUMENT must have been handled by one of those $1,800 a year clerks or maybe by the scrub women, as no one could possibly have read it and believed, as important men did in the 1940's, that these same Communists, trained in schools in Russia and thorough Marxists, were "agrarian reformers."

If anyone committed a crime against the United States in those days, it was the smart young men who invented and propagated the Aesopian term, "Agrarian reformer," to confuse our policies if not our minds.

Perhaps similar documents were buried when the State Department moved out of its ancient headquarters.

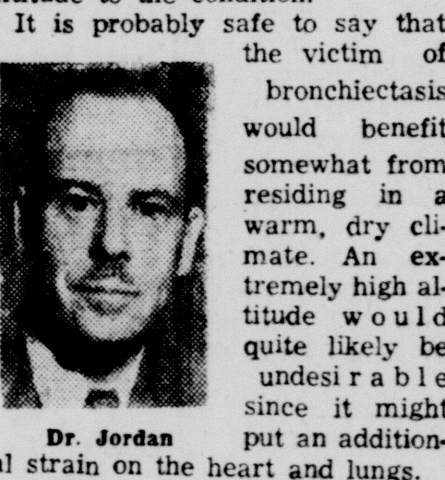

It is, however, good to be recalled to reality, to be reminded that there are those in the State Department who eat steaks instead of cookies, who wear T-shirts instead of striped trousers, and who play with their babies instead of with the trifles of diplomacy.

Health To You

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Antibiotics May Help Bronchiectasis

Mrs. D. writes that she has bronchiectasis and would like a discussion on the subject, particularly the relation of climate and altitude to the condition.

Dr. Jordan

It is probably safe to say that the victim of bronchiectasis would benefit somewhat from residing in a warm, dry climate. An extremely high altitude would likely be undesirable since it might put an additional strain on the heart and lungs.

Bronchiectasis is a condition in which the small pockets in the lungs, which are normally filled with air when a person breathes, are broken down, enlarged and filled with mucus fluid or semi-solid material. It is commonly the result of long-continued cough left over from broncho-pneumonia, lung abscess, or similar infections of the breathing system.

The symptoms of bronchiectasis are generally like those of any other irritation in the lungs. Chronic cough, usually with a fairly heavy mucus sputum, sometimes having a foul odor, is common. The diagnosis depends on special examinations, including X-rays, also the use of a remarkable instrument called a bronchoscope is frequently helpful.

Once bronchiectasis has been diagnosed, treatment should not be long delayed. The first step is to see if the condition which produced the bronchiectasis is still active and to use whatever means are possible to attack the underlying cause.

The medical treatment of bronchiectasis has not been highly successful, at least until recently. However, penicillin or its antibiotic seem to be helpful.

The other method of treatment which is satisfactory for many of those with bronchiectasis, especially when the condition is advanced, is surgery. The part of the lung affected with bronchiectasis can be removed by surgery pretty successfully and this has undoubtedly saved many lives. This is especially helpful to those with an advanced type of bronchiectasis.

It is probably safe to say that the victim of bronchiectasis would benefit somewhat from residing in a warm, dry climate. An extremely high altitude would likely be undesirable since it might put an additional strain on the heart and lungs.

I have created a hope and trust in the country (France). It is now my duty to honor this hope and trust. — French Premier Mendes-France.

It would be an absurdity of history and of politics if France, by allowing EDC to fail, should be indirectly responsible for the creation of the German national army — West German Chancellor Adenauer.

Straw Hat Circuit

(With the usual apologies)

Blessings on thee, well-known star,
You know where the dollars are,
Where the life can be sublime
In the good old summertime;
You know where the region is
Where the heat won't hurt show biz,
Where the summer tourists go,
What they'll give to see a show,
How the folks where trees are tall
For a Broadway mood will fall.
You know where the natives and Summer visitors will stand
Side by side on hot/est night—
If the show and cast are right;
You know where the dough is had
If the show is not too bad;
How the show folks make their bids
Up among the katydids.

Sleep that wakes to birds and bees,
Posters nailed to chestnut trees,
Flight of fowl and habitude
Of the folks from beach and wood;
How the woodchuck digs his cell
And the groundhock sinks his well
Almost in your dressing room
Where the wasps so often zoom;
Where the freshest berries grow—
Where the "Student Prince" will go—
Where some folks have never seen
"Smilin'" through or "Corn is Green—
Where "A Streetcar Named Desire"
Still lures folks in beach attire.

Where Gabor and Helen Hayes
Lure em in respective ways;
Where, as in Ogonquit, Maine,
Rudy Vallee rides again;
Where there still are people who Haven't seen "The Rose Tattoo,"
"My Three Angels," "Stalag Seven," Angel Street" or "Seventh Heaven."

Knowing that you're only human,
You Won't try to outdraw Truman;
You know fully Margaret's billing—
And to wait a while you're willing;
Well you know there is no moonah
Fighting Maggie or Tallulah,
Cheerily, oh, summer star,
In July no town's too far;
Straw hat show-biz is your dish—
IF YOU WATCH THE OPPOSISH!

There is watch to be said for New York's smaller taxis . . . they don't look so superior as they ignore you in the rain. Elmer Twitcheall says, "I tried one of the small cabs. Just put it on for size. Too small around the neck."

Would you call that new New York building to be erected by a whisky corporation a "rye-scraper"? It should be a structure with a kick in it, obviously. We expect a heavy attendance of sidewalk kibitzers as the excavation is dug, and we look for a fellow to lend when asked to move on. "Aw, just one more look. I'm okay." . . . "No you've had enough" will have to be the answer, we assume.

Mergers Flourish As Business Firms Step Up Competition

NEW YORK (AP) — Mergers are flourishing these days as business firms realign themselves in the big competitive battle for your spending money.

Auto companies have been joining forces—and there's talk of still more mergers in this field still dominated by the big three.

Banks in many parts of the nation have been merging, or readying plans to merge.

Textile company realignments have spiced the business news for weeks, as this harassed industry seeks ways to cut costs and lure enough consumer dollars to go around among its many small companies.

Other industries—paper, machinery, gas, to name a few—also report merger moves under way.

Since mergers make big ones out of little ones, the whole question of "big business" is likely to be kicked around this year.

Federal agencies are reported looking some of the mergers over, to see if the anti-trust laws are involved. Competitor, or the newly formed or enlarged concerns may feel increased pressure on sales, or more difficulty in getting raw materials, if the bigger firm takes a dominant position. If the competition hurts, they can be depended upon to squawk about the mergers.

The New York Stock Exchange is reported looking into some of the stock trading that has accompanied or brought about some of the mergers.

When the mergers might mean the closing of some plants and the concentration of the newly enlarged company's activities in other plants, communities affected may raise a protest.

But mergers offer many advantages in certain industries.

Take banks. More than 700 commercial banks have been absorbed into other banks in the last eight years. But the banking facilities for the nation, bankers say, hasn't been cut, because during the same years almost as many new ones started up and the opening of new branches had added about 2,000 banking offices to the nation's total.

Some of the mergers have been for economy of operation, or to acquire a bank with branches in good locations, or to diversify the kinds of services offered.

Personnel problems have also been a spur to bank mergers. The depression and the war years thinned the rank of young executives and many banks now complain it's hard to get efficient management. So they merge and make one good man serve two banks. Or they merge to be able to afford specialists in the increasingly complex banking business.

In the textile mergers, one advantage usually stressed is diversification — with many types of products a firm is hurt less from shifting style trends. Another is that in developing a broad range of products a firm can build up the appeal of a brand or company name. Cost is cut by having one sales force do the merchandising for two or more.

Another advantage is financial. The industry's earning record isn't too hot just now. But the assets value of many companies are much better than present earnings indicate.

And the costs of replacing plants at present inflated prices make an old company's facilities look like a bargain to any concern wanting to expand.

The asset value of many companies in a number of industries is higher than the market value of its stock, according to Wall Street traders. And some mergers are based more on acquiring these assets than on earning prospects.

Takes Precautions For Holdup, Has Gun Stolen

KANSAS CITY (AP)—When a drug store employee got a telephone call to make a liquor delivery, he recalled that in the past such orders had resulted in holdups.

So Howard Goldenberg of the Highland Pharmacy decided to make a preliminary investigation before delivering the liquor. He left his billfold in the store, picked up a .38 pistol and drove to the address given by the caller.

As he got out of the car, two men met him, relieved him of his keys, cigaret lighter, watch—and the pistol.

Former Club Members Enjoy Get-Together

Former members of the Martha Washington Club were entertained by Miss Lucille Baker of Jennings Ave. Wednesday at a luncheon in her home.

A red, white and blue color scheme was used on the table, which was centered with an arrangement of white daisies. Flanked on either side were tall red tapers in white holders and American flags.

The informal afternoon was spent crocheting, visiting and taking pictures. Accounts of previous meetings read by Miss Baker included a meeting in 1932 when the club was 21 years old, and one that told of the first club meeting, Feb. 22, 1911, which was held at the home of Mrs. Leonard Crossley, who then resided on N. Howard Ave.

When the fancy work club was first organized, Lucille's mother, the late Mrs. Charles Baker, was a charter member. Other charter members were the late Mrs. Samuel West, organizer of the club, and her daughters, Mrs. Leonard Crossley and the late Mrs. W. L. Fultz; Mrs. Julia Finley; the late Mrs. William Potts; the late Mrs. Daniel Purphy and Mrs. David Morningstar.

A turkey supper for the families of the club members was a yearly affair held on Washington's birthday usually in the Old Concert Hall, where Kresge's store is now located.

In the 1920's, the members turned their fancy work club into a "500" club and voted to go camping for a week each summer at either Brady's Lake or Shelton's Grove. The club disbanded in the 1930's.

Miss Baker and her guests concluded the get-together by singing "Auld Lang Syne."

House Increases Money Bill

Work Is Begun On Foreign Aid Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee, fresh from a shellacking at the hands of House members, turned to a multi-billion-dollar foreign aid bill today in hopes of greater success.

On the committee docket was President Eisenhower's request for about $3 1/2 billion dollars for overseas assistance this year, and advance word was the group might be able to finish up work on the measure tomorrow.

Members predicted their version would provide less than Eisenhower asked, but said the cuts wouldn't be such as to stir up White House opposition.

Presidential prodding was a notable factor yesterday when a coalition of Republicans and Democrats rebuffed the powerful purse-strings committee by adding $109,146,549 to the committee's figures on a catchall appropriation bill.

Then, by voice vote, the congressmen sent to the Senate a measure appropriating $1,303,334,628 to finance miscellaneous federal programs not taken care of in the regular money bills.

This was $656,623,639 less than the President had requested, but $528,400,000 was a reduction in funds for military public works construction. Instead of providing all new cash for this work, the committee had approved the use of unobligated balances of money previously appropriated. The House concurred in that plan.

But it bowed over the committee's recommendations for deep cuts in new money for ship, airport and hospital construction.

The coalition added to the bill 22 millions for municipal airport construction, 7 1/2 millions for ship construction, and $15,900,000 to help states and municipalities build new medical facilities under a recently approved hospital program.

The foreign aid funds bill is a followup to the authorizing measure which already has won House approval and now awaits Senate action.

came with the lamp, the "patient" is advised to sleep with head pointing north, on white bedding, and never to take a "tonation" at sunrise or sunset, or during an eclipse.

Users can adjust a device to change colors on the lamp. The instruction sheet says:

"Red activates the liver. "Orange induces vomiting, stops dysentery, indigestion, ptomaine poisoning, is also a lung builder. "Lemon is for abscesses, boils and carbuncles, raises phlegm. "Green is a germ killer, prevents decay. "Turquoise is a tonic, an alkali, makes new cells, tissues, tones the whole system. "Blue reduces fever, burns, scalding. "Indigo stops bleeding, pain, appendicitis. "Violet builds white corpuscles, is good for sleeping and relaxing. "Purple removes malaria, lowers blood pressure."

Mrs. Patton said she was given this color schedule for her imagined ailments:

Chrysler Production Idled By Walkout

DETROIT (AP)—All of Chrysler's Detroit automobile production was at a standstill today in the fifth day of a strike now idling 44,850 workers.

Assembly lines went down completely yesterday with the layoff of 8,850 machinists, motor builders and maintenance employees in mounting idleness from Monday's strike of 10,700 Dodge main plant employees.

Some 21,000 other Chrysler workers who are paid an hourly rate were still on the job today, many of them engaged in defense work.

All the affected employees are members of the CIO United Auto Workers. The Dodge main strikers walked out in protest of what they called a speed-up. Management denied there was a speed-up.

The only assembly plants left in operation were those in Evansville, Ind., and Los Angeles. These two turn out about 20 per cent of Chrysler's normal production of Chrysler, Dodge, DeSoto and Plymouth cars.

The Dodge main strike lacks the approval of the UAW international union. At the same time the international has taken no action on a demand by the company that the strike be declared unauthorized and a contract violation.

A company spokesman said the strike may interfere with 1955 model changeover plans. Before the Dodge main strike began, the company announced plans to close down in August for model changeovers.

U.N., Reds To Trade War Dead Bodies

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The U.N. command and the Communists will exchange bodies of soldiers buried behind enemy lines starting in September, it was announced today.

The bodies of war prisoners who died in POW camps also are to be exchanged.

Rear Adm. T. B. Brittain, senior Allied member of the Military Armistice Commission, said the Communists are responsible for disintering and caring for the bodies of Allied military personnel in North Korea. The U.N. will have the same responsibility in South Korea.

Eden Soon May Be Britain's Premier

LONDON (AP)—Anthony Eden's prominent role as a peacemaker at Geneva stirred new speculation today that 79-year-old Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill might soon retire in favor of his heir-apparent foreign secretary.

The conservative Daily Sketch, a strong supporter of the Churchill government, said this may have been why Eden had an audience last night with Queen Elizabeth II.

Most observers thought the Queen called the foreign secretary to Buckingham Palace to congratulate him on his part in working out the Indochina cease-fire. But such an audience also could mean Churchill has recommended Eden to the Queen as his successor.

The liberal News Chronicle said many members of Parliament are speculating Churchill "may regard this as the right time to hand over to Mr. Eden."

The mass circulation Daily Mirror, which for months has been urging Churchill to step down, complained today:

"Stil Sir Winston clings to office. "He does a great disservice to Eden, his chosen successor, standing in the light for so long."

the way for private industry to develop peaceful atomic power.

Sixty-four senators must vote for cloture before the Senate's rule of unlimited debate can be set aside. That is two-thirds of the full 96 members. Cloture never has been imposed under present Senate rules.

And with the Senate almost evenly divided between Republicans and Democrats, Knowland's chances of succeeding in his debate-limit move seemed slim.

Humphrey commented it would be "tough" to get the 64 votes.

Opponents of the administration had scored an upset victory last night when the Senate voted 45-41 to allow the federal government to go into the commercial production of electrical energy from atomic fuel.

A preview of the House debate came from Rep. Hollifield (D-Calif.) who said in an interview he and other Democrats intend to make a fight on some of the same issues which have kept the Senate tied up for 10 days.

Indians Defeat Red Sox Twice, Retain Slim League Lead

Feller, Lemon Notch Victories Yankee-Indian Series To Begin Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Cleveland's stubborn Indians, who have held onto a half-game league lead for 12 days, meet the fast-climbing New York Yankees tonight, with first place up for grabs.

The Indians, who have won 15 of 21 games this month, held their slim lead yesterday by taking both ends of a doubleheader at Boston while the second pace Yankees were dumping Chicago twice. That gave the Yankees a 19-3 record for the month.

Early Wynn, the last member of Cleveland's "Big Three" pitching staff to beat New York, will face Eddie Lopat in the opener of the three-game series.

Wynn beat the Yankees May 1 but since then has lost to them twice. Bob Lemon had won an earlier game for the Tribe and the other Cleveland wins were by relievers, two by Hal Newhouser and one by Don Mossi.

New York has won six of 11 games against Cleveland.

Moss, a left handed rookie with a 4-1 record, will start Saturday against New York's Alie Reynolds and Sunday the Tribe will use Mike Garcia against Whitey Ford.

This will be the first time anybody but Lemon, Wynn and Garcia has started against New York.

Lemon gave up only seven hits and pitched a 5-2 victory yesterday against the Red Sox after Bob Feller won the opener 6-3.

Lemon, recovering from pulled muscles in his side, had a shutout until the ninth when Ted Williams singled and Harry Agganis hit a home run.

Wally Westlake hit a homer for the Indians in the fourth and Al Smith got another in the eighth. The other Cleveland runs were in the first, fourth and fifth.

Smith walked in the first, moved around on an error and Larry Doby's single, and scored on a fly by Vic Wertz.

Dave Philley singled in the fourth, moved around on a sacrifice, and scored on Hal Naragon's single.

In the fifth, Doby singled, advanced on a double by Wertz and scored on walks to Westlake and George Strickland.

Wertz drove in four Cleveland runs with a pair of homers in the first game.

Al Rosen missed the second game because of bruises on the arms and chest suffered Tuesday when Boston's Sammy White crashed into him at third base. Rosen, who already has suffered a broken right index finger, says he fully intends to play against New York, however.

Pony All-Stars Play Tiltonsville Tonight At EL

The Salem Pony League All-Stars, seeking title honors in the Area 8 playoffs, will journey to East Liverpool this evening to play the Tiltonsville nine.

Game time is 6 p.m.

Tiltonsville dropped Martins Ferry last night and East Liverpool was chosen as the game site because it is a neutral field midway between the two cities.

Earlier this week, the locals beat Canton 7-2 and East Liverpool 10-5.

Pete Saunders and Henry Meisner manage the Pony League All-Stars.

Monday, the Salem Little League All-Stars, hoping to repeat their sterling playoff performances of last year, will taste first action, being pitted against the East Liverpool Americans at the Pleasant Heights Field.

There are eight teams in this area, designated "Area C" by Little League officials. The team to beat, officials say, is Youngstown South, which dropped Salem out of the finals last year.

If Salem can cop the area C title, they will join the winners of Areas A, B, and D for the regional playoff at Campbell Aug. 3 and 4.

Ralph Mancuso and Al Catlos lead the Little League All-Stars.

Yankees Capture 2 From Chisox

Brooklyn Gains Game, Braves, Cards Win

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

One of the prime reasons for the recent rise of the New York Yankees is the blossoming of Mickey Charles Mantle into a big time big leaguer.

The 22-year-old switch hitting center fielder apparently has arrived, although some fans who regard Yankee miracles as commonplace feel he took a long time coming.

Amid reams of ballyhoo the Yanks tried to jump Mantle from the Class C Western Association into Joe DiMaggio's job in 1951. It didn't quite come off. Mantle had to go down to Kansas City for seasoning. He came back in 1952 for what would have been a sensational season for any normal rookie. He hit 23 home runs and finished with a .311 average.

But it wasn't enough for the fans who were still dreaming of DiMaggio. Mickey fell off to .295 last season and when he came up with an old knee injury during the winter the Yanks were really worried.

An operation put him out of commission through much of spring training and he wasn't ready when the season started. But he's really rolling now.

His average of .323 is second high on the club. He leads the league in home runs with 20 and tops the Yankees in runs scored, triples, hits, runs batted in, total bases and bases on balls. He also has struck out the most, not too unusual for a distance hitter. In the field he ranks with the best. When the Yanks ran out of infielders in the first game of their double triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

Mantle was the batting star in the first game of yesterday's double triumph by the Yanks over the Chicago White Sox. He drove in the tying run with a right-handed single in the eighth inning and the winning run with a left handed home run into left field in the 10th. The score was 4-3. The Yanks coasted home in the second 11-1.

Cleveland also won twice, 6-3 and 5-2 over Boston, and kept its half game first place lead.

Brooklyn climbed a game closer to the New York Giants with an 8-5 victory over Cincinnati while the Giants bowed to Chicago 13-5. New York still holds a six game edge.

In other action Milwaukee edged Philadelphia 3-2 and St. Louis shaded Pittsburgh by the same score in 14 innings in the National League.

Oliver Is Medalist In PGA Championship

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—The test of whether the bleak little Keller Public Course is capable of giving the top golf professionals a real challenge, or whether it's just a drive-and-pitch layout for Sunday swingers got under way today with the beginning of match play in the 36th PGA championship.

Keller had been ridiculed before the tournament as being too easy for such players, but as scores began to mount in yesterday's second qualifying round, one acute observer remarked:

"This course is so easy it's getting tough."

That's about what happened during the two days of qualifying and what's more likely to happen in the man-to-man contests. The pro sharpshooters, seeing possible birdies on almost every hole, tried too hard to get them.

The result was that Ed Oliver, the rotund "Mr. Pork Chops" from Lemont, Ill., breezed off with the medal and $250 with a score of 66-70-136. That's two strokes higher than the PGA qualifying record made on reputedly tougher courses.

Jack Burke and Cary Middlecoff came in with 137's and it took a score of 147 to get into the 64-man match play bracket. That's some sharp scoring but hardly taking apart the tournament par of 36-35-71 for the level 6,632-yard course.

Today's program called for two rounds of 18-hole matches. That kind has to be won or lost in a hurry and presents a real temptation to gamble on the "birdie" holes.

COLLEGE STARS PRACTICE
LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Fifty of last year's college football heroes gathered at Purdue University today to begin preparations for their Aug. 13 assignment against the Detroit Lions in the annual All-Star Game at Chicago.

Jim Tatum, who guided Maryland to the 1953 mythical national championship and will head the All-Star coaching staff, said actual workouts will begin tomorrow.

Indianapolis Widens Lead Over Louisville

By The Associated Press
Indianapolis has widened its American Association lead over Louisville to 10 games and is faced with the opportunity to make the gap even greater in a hurry.

The two front-runners open a three-game series at Louisville tonight.

The leading Indians gained a split in a four-game series with Toledo by grabbing a 4-2 decision last night while Kansas City was downing Louisville's Colonels 6-1.

The Columbus Red Birds broke a six-game losing streak as they took both ends of a doubleheader from Minneapolis, 1-0 and 3-2.

Miller sluggers, who had garnered 24 hits in a 223 victory over the Birds Wednesday night, could manage only three safeties off Bill Greason in last night's opener and five off Jim Kirk and Mel Wright in the afterpiece.

Cellar-dwelling Charleston put together a four-game winning streak — its longest of the year — by sweeping a pair from St. Paul 6-1 and 6-2.

His average of .323 is second high on the club. He leads the league in home runs with 20 and tops the Yankees in runs scored, triples, hits, runs batted in, total bases and bases on balls. Ohio May Have No '54 Deer Season

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio may go without a deer hunting season this year. The game section staff of the Division of Wildlife recommended the ban because herd increases were not substantial.

Charles Dambach, chief of the Division of Wildlife, said he will announce today whether deer hunting will be allowed. He meets with the wildlife council.

Earlier, he said he is inclined to go along with recommendations of his staff.

All-Stars Drop Two Of Three Games

Bliss Wins 5-4; Leetonia Loses

Georgetown Tops Girls Stars; 500 Fans There

With 500 fans looking on, the All-Star teams had a rough night of it Thursday at Kelley Field, dropping two of three skirmishes in the city softball league's annual All-Star games.

In the feature attraction of the evening, the Bliss nine pulled the big upset, tripping the "AA" All-Stars, 54. Georgetown edged the Girl stars 4-3, while, in the first game of the night, the single-A "Dream Team" blasted Leetonia 8-1.

Bliss 5, "AA" All Stars 4
Bliss showed signs of making it tough for the rest of the league with its convincing win last night. Getting the bid to play in the All-Star game by virtue of being last year's league champion, Bliss has been unable to shake off an early-season slump this campaign.

However, last night, the Cardinals' schedule finds Old Timers and Electric furnace playing in the first game, Amvets and Homeworth tangling at 7:45 and, in the finale, Beloit and Georgetown are pitted.

als made their best showing of the season to date, beating the toughest possible competition the league has to offer. Bliss manager "Peanuts" Debnar pulled a surprise when he bypassed his regular starting hurler, Dick Jackson for this crucial test in favor of veteran Wayne "Muscles" Russell.

Russell vindicated Debnar's judgment with a resounding 6-hitter, striking out 12 men and walking only 5.

Bill Herman, star Salem Tool pitcher, was the starter for the Stars, managed by Gale Stewart of Butler Grange. Herman was touched for a first inning home run by Walt Woods with one on, but then Herman and Don Fife, second All-Star hurler, pitched shut out ball until the fifth.

The stars finally knotted the count in the fourth on a walk to Steve Cibula, Anton Hrvatin's safe punt, and, with two out, a single by John Rottenborn and a double by Roland Hall.

Pete Davis' double following a walk to Walt Woods put Bliss in front again in the last of the fifth but the Stars tied it in the sixth as Hall singled Rottenborn across.

Bliss won the game in the last of the sixth off Demings chucker Dave Ehrhart with two infield grounders with the bases loaded. Two errors and Al Landwert's sacrifice fly tallied the last All-Star run in the top of the seventh, but Russell quickly shut the door and Bliss was in.

Rottenborn and Hall of the All-Stars and Frank Lanney and Russell of Bliss each lashed out two hits to pace the hitters.

Georgetown 4, Girls All-Stars 3
Georgetown, like Bliss, had to break a late tie for the triumph. After the winners led 3-1 at the end of the first inning, the All-Stars evened the count in the third only to have Georgetown garner the winning tally in the fourth.

Georgetown pitcher Doris Schneider struck out 12 batters and scattered eight hits.

Margaret McKenna's double in the first sent Ruth May home with a 'Star run, but Georgetown came back as an error, singles by G. Odey and Bradley and a triple by Sanor netted three markers.

Erla Burrier's single, McKenna's triple and an error tied the score at 3-all in the third, but, in the fourth, Georgetown won the game as McBride bunted safely, advanced on an infield out and scored on Wyss' hit to third.

Bradley and Wyss each had two Georgetown hits while McKenna registered a double and a triple for the All-Stars to pace the batting.

"A" All-Stars 8, Leetonia 1
The All-Stars had little trouble in this tilt, winning handily as Bill Schuster, Al Stouffer and Bill Arney combined to hurl a two-hitter.

The long ball was the difference as George Mordew's two-run homer in the first inning was the actual winning blow. But, in the seventh, for good measure, Al Stouffer belted ed a round tripper with two on and shortly thereafter, Tom Ehrhart doubled home two more tallies. Bill Schuster was the winning pitcher, allowing no hits in the first three innings. Bill Ingledue of the All-Stars was the only batter in the game to collect two hits.

Dressen Firing Recalled To Fading Dodgers

NEW YORK (AP) — It was inevitable that the time would come when the owners of the Brooklyn Dodgers would be reminded that they had fired a pennant winning manager, Charlie Dressen, and installed in his place a big, quiet fellow named Walter Alston who never had before directed a big league club.

The time is now. As the once proud leaders suffer through an extended slump and fall further behind the flying Giants in a National League race that threatens to develop into a runaway, the abrupt change of pilots that shocked the baseball world last fall again has become a burning topic of conversation and conjecture.

Would the Dodgers still be on top if the scrappy, alert Dressen were at the helm? Or was the likeable Alston presented with a ball club that, because of age and recurring injuries to key men, was ready to fade before the onslaught of the first determined rival? Did Dressen foresee what was coming and demand a two-year contract for his own protection?

If you think you know any of the answers, consider yourself a member of the debating club. The only clue we have to offer comes from a former big league star, later a manager, who has had an opportunity to study the methods of both Dressen and Alston.

"They're both good managers," he said, "but of an entirely different type. Alston still looks a little bewildered to me though, maybe a bit overwhelmed by what's happened to him. I don't doubt that he's a sound baseball man, but I've seen him make some mistakes that Charlie never would have made."

"I don't believe he thinks quite as fast as the little guy did. It wasn't the bunk about Charlie stealing your signals. He could hurt you, and I'm convinced he helped some of his batters by calling pitches for them. He had the horses, sure, but he helped them win a lot of close games."

Whether Dressen suspected that worse times were coming, and so precipitated the row that wound up with him managing Oakland instead of sounding his shrill whistle in the big show, one can only guess.

As for Alston, he isn't saying much of anything. No particular inference is to be drawn from this, though, as he had very little to say before the roof began caving in upon him. They say that he, like his players, only looks a little more stunned day by day as misfortune dogs the team.

Only once, apparently, has the rookie pilot permitted his temper to show through. That was when, after a recent loss to the Giants, he ordered the entire club, pitchers and all, to engage in special batting practice until dark. No member of the team could recall this having happened before.

Stengel Not Counting White Sox Finished

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel sends his New York Yankees after the American League lead tonight in the first of three games with Cleveland, but he's still convinced it's a three-team race for the pennant.

The Indians own a half game edge over the Yankees and have played the world champions on an almost even basis so far this season, winning 5 of the 11 games. The Yanks never have been in the lead.

The Yanks deflated the pennant hopes of the Chicago White Sox at least temporarily yesterday by winning a doubleheader 4-3 in 10 innings and 11-1. This dumped the third place Sox 6½ games behind Cleveland.

But in discussing the way the Yanks and Indians have traded decisions Stengel outlined the road back for Chicago.

"If it keeps up like this," he said, "those fellows can come back by beating the other fellows (meaning the second division teams)."

The veteran Yankee manager didn't have much to say about his immediate problems with the Indians except to pick Eddie Lopat as his starter for tonight.

Big Chief Allie Reynolds will be in the bull pen, just as he was yesterday. He wasn't needed against Chicago and if he escapes work again tonight he'll be the starter tomorrow. If he works Stengel hopes it will be brief enough to bring him back as a starter Sunday. Whitey Ford will open whichever game Reynolds doesn't.

FLY TROUBLE—White Sox second baseman Nellie Fox (2) and rightfielder Jim Rivera get their signals mixed as a fly ball off the bat of Yankees' first baseman Joe Collins drops between them in the first inning of the opening game in the Yanks-Sox double-header in New York. Rivera took the sting out of the miff by throwing out Collins when he attempted to take second on the play. The Yanks won 4-3. This unusual action picture was made by Associated Press Staff photographer John Rooney.

Last Inning Rallies Feature LL Action

Fishers Move Into First Place, Top Sekely; Mullins Nips VFW

A pair of one-run thrillers, spiced with thrilling last inning rallies, brought about a shuffling in league standings today as a result of last night's play in the Little Major League at Centennial Park.

Fishers fought off a desperate nine-run rally in the last of the sixth - and final - inning to take a 10-9 decision from Sekely and move into undisputed possession three runs in the bottom of the final frame, nipped VFW 5-4 in the other hair-raiser of the night.

Fishers scored three runs in the first two innings, five more in the fourth, and added single tallies in the fifth and sixth.

Although Fishers breezed into the last inning with a comfortable 10-0 lead, Sekely suddenly came to life, breaking loose with an avalanche of hits to counter nine runs but, with the tying and winning runs on base, the last Sekely man struck out to end the game.

Arthur Rottenborn smashed a home run for Fishers to highlight the five-run fourth. For Fishers, Carl Dunn and Rottenborn each had three hits to pace the attack while Elmer Smith collected two, leading Sekelys.

In other play, VFW also held what seemed like a comfortable lead, 4-2, going into the last inning, but, unlike Fishers, were unable to stem the tide as the winners tallied three times on a quick series of hits and errors to notch the win.

Jim Lehwald and Bob King had two hits off Mullins with Duane McClaskey receiving credit for the win.

Legion Auxiliary Installs Officers

Delegates Are Elected To Ohio Convention

COLUMBIANA — Officers for the next year were installed at the July meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Firestone American Legion Post, Wednesday evening, when delegates were also elected to the Ohio Department convention in Cincinnati, July 30 - August 1.

Mrs. J. C. Horton, president, and Mrs. A. M. McLaughlin will represent Firestone Auxiliary at Cincinnati. Mrs. Horton, who was installed for her second term as president, was presented with a handbag in recognition of her services the past year.

Remaining officers installed by Mrs. Paul Reeves as installing officer were: Janice Sponseller, first vice president; Catherine Schlag, second vice president; Donna Barrow, chaplain; Lettie Stahl, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. McLaughlin, historian; Thelma McNab, treasurer; Florence Hum, recording secretary; Ora Millern, corresponding secretary.

Plans were discussed for the Columbiana County Council of the auxiliary picnic, Tuesday, August 17, for which Firestone Auxiliary will be host in Pavilion 4. Firestone Park. Lunch was served by the committee.

Mrs. Horton, Mrs. McLaughlin, Mrs. Ross Sheets, Mrs. Stewart Orr and Mrs. Ray Fisher represented Firestone Auxiliary at the meeting of County Council in Salineville, Tuesday evening, when new county officers were installed. The date of the county picnic here is the regular time for the August meeting of the council.

At the recent summer conference of the 10th Ohio district in Salem, Firestone Auxiliary was one of 10 in the district to receive a national citation for meritorious service, and a department citation on a membership roll call as one of 30 auxiliaries in the district that reached their quotas in time to qualify as "early birds."

Mrs. Horton served on registration and Mrs. McLaughlin as flag bearer at the conference. Mrs. S.

PLEADING FOR A DRINK—This summer's steady heat wave is causing top leaves and tassels of cornplants to wither on midwest farms. Arthur Clark points out damage to a plant on his 160-acre field of seed corn near Homer, Ill. Federal crop officials say another week of intense heat would seriously damage the entire crop.

Schlag was a delegate, and Mrs. Reeves a visitor.

MRS. ALLAN T. WHITE has been appointed program chairman for the tour of spots of historical interest in Columbiana and vicinity by the Historical Society of Columbiana and Fairfield Township Sunday afternoon. Miss Nellie Koch, who was program chairman for the tour when it had to be postponed two weeks ago, was called away. Tourists will leave Grace Church corner at 2 p.m. Transportation will be available.

THE PICNIC committee of the Columbiana Business & Professional Women's Club met Tuesday evening at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Ruth Backstrom, Garfield-Petersburg Road, and planned a picnic in Pavilion 1, Firestone Park, at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Each person is to take covered dish and table service. Coffee, butter and rolls will be provided. It will be the July meeting of the club, which will have as its speaker, Khair Mohd Khan Jamali, one of the Pakistan Moslem farmers spending the summer in this vicinity.

The Rev. Donald J. Voelm of Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church has been serving this week as director of Camp Wanakee, denominational camp near Beach City. Thomas Crumbacher, Larry Snyder and Jean Sittler of Grace Church are in attendance.

Jackie Sittler and Jean Yoder, of Columbiana Christian Church, will be at Round Lake Christian Assembly on Route 3, south of Wooster, next week for the second intermediate week at the denominational camp.

Boy, 4, Runs Auto Wild Through City

LOS ANGELES — Police say Jack Todora, 4, freed the family car from a curb yesterday and steered it downhill through three intersections. Reaching 50 miles an hour, it struck Donald Boudinot's auto, turned it over, killed Boudinot's collie dog, and finally hit James Matthews' house, officers said.

Damage to the car: more than $1,000. To Jack: a cut lip and three loose teeth.

Millville Community Church Services Held

Check Sent 29 Years Ago Finally Returns

DODGE CITY, Kan., — Mrs. Merritt Beeson thinks cash may be getting a little bit short in Vermont.

She received a canceled $1 check cashed only recently, which she had sent to Walter Lynds of Plymouth in 1925.

The check was sent to Lynds 29 years ago in payment for "pure Vermont maple products, made in President Coolidge's sugar orchard."

House Okays Funds For Ohio Air Base

WASHINGTON — The House has approved spending four million dollars for 4,250 acres of land in Northeast Ohio for a new Air Force-Navy Reserve training center.

The exact site, it turns out, is uncertain.

The item was one of many in a half-billion-dollar military construction appropriation approved by voice vote yesterday.

The base, chiefly for weekend fliers, is expected to cost 13 million and be located somewhere in the Cleveland-Akron area.

During debate, Rep. Ayres (R-Ohio) said it might "ruin" his chance of reelection if the base is placed in Medina County in his district. He said he understands the military is looking elsewhere, possibly even east of Akron, nearer to Youngstown.

Rep. Davis (R-Wis.), who heads one appropriations subcommittee that approved the four million, said he did not know there was any doubt the land would be purchased. It was his understanding, he told Ayres, it would be 13 miles northwest of Akron, which would place it just south of Medina, Ohio.
